OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

AUG 25 2015

The Honorable Erma J. Vizenor
Chairwoman, White Earth Reservation Tribal Council
P.O. Box 418
White Earth, Minnesota 56591

Dear Chairwoman Vizenor:

Thank you for your letter dated May 12, 2015, requesting that I hold a special Secretarial election for the purpose of conducting an independence referendum for the White Earth Band of Chippewa Indians (White Earth). Your letter requested a response within 30 days, and I apologize for the delay in responding to you. For reasons set forth below, I must decline the request to hold a Secretarial election.

As a member of the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe (MCT), White Earth is in an unusual situation. The bands that formed the MCT are separate sovereigns with independent relationships with the United States; for example, in 1934 White Earth voted to accept the Indian Reorganization Act (IRA) by a 1,122 to 245 margin. However, the MCT was formed in 1936 when the residents of six reservations<sup>1</sup> joined together and voted to adopt a constitution under the Indian Reorganization Act (IRA). In forming a single tribal organization, in which six bands operate under one umbrella constitution, each band voluntarily bound itself to the constraints of the MCT.

The IRA recognized that a governmental structure should be flexible and provided a process to revoke or amend a previously adopted constitution via Secretarial election.<sup>2</sup> Secretarial elections are governed by Federal regulations. The Federal regulations provide a framework for the formulation and submission of petitions requesting a Secretarial election to amend a tribal constitution.<sup>3</sup>

The MCT Constitution itself provides a method to revoke or amend the Constitution by election.<sup>4</sup> It is the duty of the Secretary to call an election to amend or revoke the Constitution when requested by two-thirds of the Tribal Executive Committee.<sup>5</sup> The MCT Constitution also provides a mechanism for individual tribal members to petition for a referendum vote on any proposed resolution or ordinance.<sup>6</sup> Thus, the MCT Constitution provides a safety valve to request a Secretarial election if two-thirds of the Tribal Executive Committee decline to request an election. In sum, absent a request from two-thirds of the Tribal Executive Committee under Article XII of the MCT Constitution, or a petition arising under Article XIV, I lack the necessary authorization to call a Secretarial election.

Adopting, amending, or revoking a Constitution is a difficult process; this is by design. The MCT Constitution is not unusual in this regard, and I understand White Earth's frustrations. In some ways, it might appear to an outside observer that efforts toward tribal self-determination for White Earth are being impeded by the MCT. But the Federal Government has not always been a force for good in disputes within and among tribes. In light of our own tainted history, I believe that the United States must proceed with great humility when approaching such disputes, whether they are characterized as intratribal or intertribal. Thus, while this is a close case and I am sympathetic with your plight, it is more consistent with my own principles in support of tribal self-determination and self-governance to allow any solution to this issue to come from the processes already authorized within the MCT Constitution. I encourage you to engage those processes.

I appreciate your understanding in these matters and wish you success in achieving your goals of independence for the White Earth Nation.

Sincerely,

Kevin K. Washburn
Assistant Secretary – Indian Affairs
